Nothing Stays The Same . . .

High schools prepare their students for change. The transition from adolescence into adulthood begins in an institution where priorities are obtained, personalities rounded out, and talents are perfected.

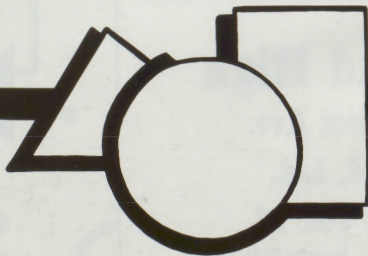

The Wildcats' institution is one that bases its goals towards school improvement and thus the after-life of high school.

College, a family it makes no difference which direction the individual decides to follow the faculty at H.H.S. feels that if the student can relate and adapt to high school and the high school lifestyle they will do the same in life. Therefore the faculty works with the students in preparing for the students' future.

NOTHING STAYS THE SAME . . . fits the atmosphere at H.H.S. because both the faculty and the students work for a brighter, happier tomorrow.

At a pep assembly, the Seniors prove to the underclassmen who rules.

Mardi Gras Madness

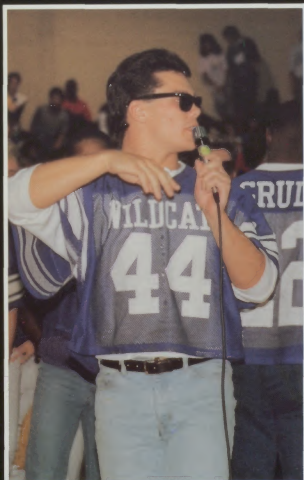

Spirit and enthusiasm marked the 1987 homecoming week. It was the result of dances, assemblies, and general time to let loose and have fun. Mardi Gras week began with an authentic masquerade ball. Backwards day, nerd day, celebrity day, class colors day, and purple and white day made up spirit week. After school Wednesday, each hall was festively decorated by the classes. After school Thursday, the homecoming parade and bonfire took place. The football assembly on Friday gave the football players the winning spirit and that night Hammond High beat E.C. Central 18 to 0. The crowning of the homecoming court at half-time was the finale to this packed Mardi Gras week.

Jailbirds Taria Brooks and Jack Coleman escape to the Homecoming masquerade ball.

After three years at Hammond High, the Seniors know how to show that Wildcat spirit!

And The Winner Is . . .

This year's homecoming court was presented to the student body in a new and different way. This year's homecoming assembly was set up like a beauty pageant. Each girl represented a different state. They shared a little part of themselves during an on-stage interview. Preceding the interviews the underclassmen performed a song and dance ensemble whereas the seniors performed theirs individually.

The girls were escorted onto the field during half-time. One by one, the winners were announced: freshman princess Sonia Cobb, sophomore princess Sue Stanek, junior princess Owana Fletcher, and last but certainly not least the Homecoming Queen, Charlotte Hutton, was crowned. The moment everyone had awaited for quickly passed with tears of happiness and hugs of congratulations.

Fun . . . But Not In The Sun

Summer isn't just a three month period of no school, summer is a time when many people go to camp. While attending summer camp, one can learn anything from helpful study hints to skills that make them varsity sport heroes.

Even though there is an expense to pay and there are a few precious weeks of summer vacation to give up, there are some fun reasons for going to camp. Meeting new and exciting people who share common interests is just one reason. So why not consider attending a summer camp? All of the camp goers say it's worth it in the end.

Lifestyles At H.H.S.

In school, H.H.S. students spent a lot of their time lying around in the halls, thinking of ways to get more study halls on their schedules. Of course, once they were in the spirit of things they started thinking of ways to improve their grades. We all wanted to learn in school, but we wanted to do it in our own way.

And we did, students also had fun getting involved in all of the in-school activities presented by student government and many other student oriented functions.

In-school activities are really what helped students get through the 87-88 school year.

Senior, Pete Tran, indulges into his latest issue of Rolling Stone.

Junior Jeffrey Rodeck, a guidance aid for Mrs. Cameron, tries to keep a grip on students records.

The crowd waits for the referees call on the touchdown.

Fun . . . Out Of School

There are many things students do while they're out of school. Some students work after school while others participate in baseball, basketball, football, track, softball, and other sports. There are also school dances after school. Students usually get together after school and do homework while others go to the library. After games students usually meet at some place and get something to eat or they go see a movie.

Matt March is caught with his pants down.

Come Together

In the 87-88 school year, assemblies were academic, extracurricular, or just plain fun. We had the "ever-so-popular" class meetings where the administrators and counselors discuss rules and regulations or class scheduling. In the yearbook assembly, the yearbook staff put on a skit to promote the yearbook. There was a special assembly where a guest speaker, an astronaut, from NASA came to talk to the student body. Our most popular assemblies are the pep assemblies where we "pep" up our Wildcats for the big games. During the pep assemblies, we have class competitions to see who is the best class. These assemblies help make our school year much more exciting and fun.

Cheerleaders Heather Newton and Shelley Sledge pumped up the Juniors at the Homecoming assembly.

Mr. White patiently awaits completion of the counselors' part of the assembly.

Marie Lopez and Lori O'Brien entertain the students during the yearbook assembly.

Lobing Up A Winning Season

A rocky season seemed to be in store for the boy's tennis team but they improved and ended with a winning record. The most important match that was marked on the "win" column was the ILSC match. The team went to Conference and took the matches by storm bringing the title home in straight sets.

Coach Kitchell, along with Junior Matt March, and Seniors Charlie Myers, Chris Schneider, and Ed Gize lead the team to a winning season. Matt, number one singles player since his freshman year, had a perfect record of 16-0 in the regular season but lost in sectionals to the number one singles player from Munster.

The enthusiasm on the team was intense this season and should be even more intense next season.

Strong Until the End

What is cross country? Cross country is a sport in which a runner tests his running ability. The runner tries to achieve and maintain a good position until the home stretch where he then sprints to the finish line in hopes of scoring a personal best time.

In the beginning of the season, 18 students went out for the team. However, the season ended with only nine runners. This year's top runner for Hammond High, Ray Cross was all conference. Cross was sixth place under the coaching of Al Jackson. The team was successful but more runners are needed for a sectional championship.

Changing Tides

Through all of the setbacks of their season, the girls' swim team survived and even came out ahead. The trouble began two weeks before the beginning of the season when the former coach left the team without a replacement. The boys' team assistant coach Phylis Malis agreed to take the job temporarily, but the team convinced her to stay for the rest of the season. She will return to coach the team again next year. Although their record was 3-7 and they are losing four seniors, the team gained five freshmen and a whole new positive attitude. To finish the successful season, the team qualified, for the first time, in the finals at the sectional meet in the 400 free relay. Overall, regardless of the scores, the girls' swim team has come out a winner.

Top: Beth Howard rests after dropping ten seconds from her time in the 500 freestyle.

Bottom: And they're off for the sectional consolation 100 yard backstroke heat in which HHS's Sarah Smith placed second.

The Catfish Are In Season

The Catfish opened their season with a 6-0 record, 2 contributing factors were the gain of a new coach, Dave Rycerz and strenuous practices both before and after school. With the swim teams determination and enthusiasm, they had a victorious season with a record of 10-4. Some of their wins were over Morton, Gavitt, Merrillville, Westside, and Michigan City.

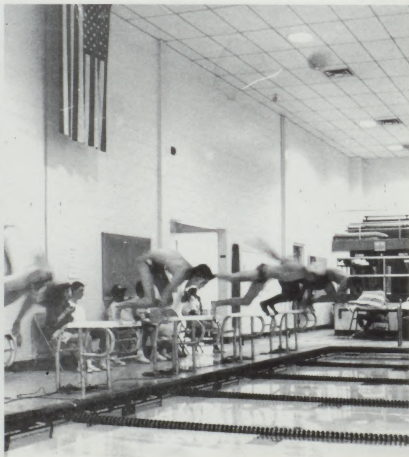

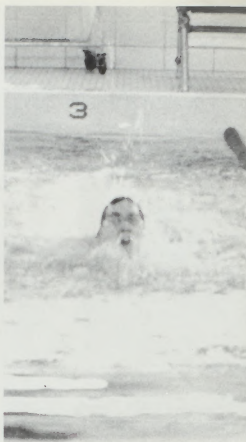

Tim Howard attempts to break yet another world breast stroke record at one of the early morning practices.

Hanging on to first place by the tips of his toes, Hackett prepares for his final dive.

At the sound of the gun, the swimmers dive for the lead in the relay race at Michigan City.

The Catfish had a third place win in the ILSC. Tim Howard, captain, was a conference champion in the 100 Butterfly.

Near the end of the season the members of the swim team became scarce at the practices and eventually even at the meets, but the dedicated members stuck in there and had an extraordinary season.

Young Lady Cats Battle For Recognition

This year's volleyball team was basically a young team. Consisting of mainly Juniors and Sophomores and one Senior, they had a rocky season. With only three wins under their belt, the Lady Cats entered the Sectionals and defeated East Chicago Central only to face Bishop Noll in the semi-finals. This young team fought long and hard to pull out a win but was disappointed in the final score.

The J.V. team was also young and inexperienced with mostly Freshmen. The J.V. Lady Cats went to the J.V. Tournament with high hopes to defeat Gavitt. They succeeded in that attempt but failed when they went up against Bishop Noll in the semi-finals.

The team has great hopes that next year will be more productive and less running will be involved in their practices. Time can only tell and we'll have to see what happens next season.

Clawing Their Way To The Top

Words cannot describe the intensity and excitement of this year's varsity football season. They finished with a 9-2 record.

The height of the winning streak was the victory over Indianapolis Cathedral, who was ranked first in the state. The defensive line blocked a punt to make the 12-7 victory possible.

Leading the team this year were senior captains Robb Pettit, Tony McGruder, and Bo Logan.

The team reached unexpected goals this year by beating Noll for the first time in six years and coming back to a shut-out victory over Morton.

The season was ended by a loss to Munster in the last game of sectionals by a field goal in over time.

Congratulations for a job well done.

Lady Cat's On The Rebound

A winning season is what the girl's basketball team had in mind, but difficulties inside the team prevented that from happening. Despite the team's prevalent problems they continued to practice to improve their game.

The girl's basketball team lacked a lot of fan support and togetherness. After experiencing a losing season, the girls will have to figure out what caused them to crumble. And then, figure out how to prevent such problems from breaking the bonds within the team. Best of luck next year.

Outstanding Year for Cats

What a season it was! Hammond High suffered a defeat by Munster their first game only to come back with a victorious record of 14-7. Winning sectionals wasn't easy but the end result was the defeat of Gavit and another over Andrean putting them into the regional games held at EC Central. Lake Central put up a tough fight but not tough enough for the Wildcat team. The time finally came for the last game of regionals against BNI. The tension was high and the suspense was intense. The score was 64-64 when, in the last two seconds of the game, Noll scored. It was a tough break but we know who the better school is!

A Winning Season

The Wildcat season was one of ups and downs; but when the spring was over, the Wildcats came through with their first winning season in years. Not only were the "Cats" able to finish their season above .500, but they also managed to upset three state-ranked teams: Morton (3), Hamilton South-Eastern (7), and Highland (4).

This year's team was led by offensive star Rob Musgraves and the ace of the pitching staff, senior Mike Sanders. Second-year coach George Malis was able to instill the fighting spirit into his players and give them that extra edge that made them victorious. Malis was also aided by two able-bodied assistant coaches: Mr. S. Krutz and Mr. D. Sutkowski. All in all, it was a successful season for our Wildcats. Congratulations on a job well done, guys!

The 1988 trackmen were full of spunk from the starting line to the finish line as they competed against some of the toughest teams in the area.

Under the supervision of Coaches James Brown and Todd Brown, the team, consisting of 15 members, did exceptionally well. Jonas Smith won the Conference Championship in the quarter mile. Team captain Ray Cross won the Conference Championship, Sectional Championship, and took fourth place at the Regional meet in the 800 meters which qualified him for the state meet.

This year the girls track team started with 23 girls and kept about the same number throughout the season. Kathleen Orr, Missy Gardner, Jennifer Lytle, and Lelania Alamillo improved their pitching by attending a pitching clinic over the summer. Jean Cashmir, Julie Snow, and Freshman Connie Trylong belted in-the-park home runs.

Under the direction of Coach Bob Serafin and Coach Robert Schneider, the girls made it to Sectionals. They played a close game against Sectional favorites, Whiting, with a score of 3-2.

Robb Petit is taking with him many school records including; four year conference, sectional, and regional champion, most season wins, 35, and most career wins, 97. In his final year Petit ended the season by ranking 7th in the state tournament.

Larry Follard was also conference, sectional, and regional champion. Follard ended his high school career by ranking 5th in the state of Indiana.

Young Stars On The Rise

The 1988 Hammond High soccer team kicked into action this year with early season losses, but salvaged their season as the young team quickly gained experience. They finished with a record of 6-11-2. This season was a building season for the Wildcats who only started three seniors: Bryan Summers, Vince Merlo, and Rob Siedentopf. HHS finished with a conference record of 4-4-2, and Coach Caroll believes the young team has a strong chance of bringing the conference title home next year. Jose Salinas, a sophomore, was the offensive leader of the team, while Bryan Summers led them on the defensive end of the field. Both players were chosen for the All-Conference team, while Rob Siedentopf was chosen as Honorable Mention.

Next year should bring bigger and better things for the Wildcat soccer team.

Teeing Up For The Future

It was not a spectacular season for the 1988 Boys' Varsity Golf team. The team, coached by Mr. Badovinich, started slow and ended the same. "The boys had fun and are looking forward to next year," says Coach Badovinich. The team, as a whole, had an average of 60 strokes per match in the beginning of the season, yet by the final match, the team brought the overall average down to 40 strokes. Even though the season record was 1-10, the golf team showed strong spirit while out on the golf course.

Tennis Anyone?

The girls varsity tennis team had an unusual season in '88. Beginning slowly, the girls ended with a much deserved second place in Sectionals. They worked hard to arrive at that placement. The team defeated Gavit in the first round and defeated Hanover Central in the second round. The girls ran into some trouble when they faced Munster in the finals and lost 5-0. With the help of Coach Nancy Kitchell, the girls tennis team had a fine season.

Fire Up That Wildcat Pride

No one provides a better source of school spirit than our cheerleaders, and they have proved it time and time again. After all, they have a good model to follow. Ms. Cynthia Warner, the cheerleader's sponsor, firmly stands behind the young ladies she supports and proves it every chance she gets. By hanging in for the long haul and to the occasional bitter end, the cheerleaders have verified their spirit and their pride in our school. They are definitely an essential and often overlooked element in the success of our school, both on and off the field.

Pom Kats Looking Good

Showing their school spirit, this year's Pom Kats were determined to top last year's performance. This summer some of the Pom Kats attended a summer camp and brought back with them many new ideas and routines.

The Pom Kats received brand new uniforms this year with all of their fund raisers and the help of the Adult Booster Club.

The school spirit of the Pom Kats plus the determination of their sponsor Miss DeYoung has helped them work hard and give us great performances game after game.

Industrial Arts

John Secvair drills a piece of wood.

The industrial arts department is made up of two classes: mechanical drawing and woods. Both of these classes teach skills which will be usable at trade schools and in many areas of the blue collar work force. Students learn how to draw layouts, make graphs, make picture frames, and in general learn many drafting skills. Students learn how to use the tools of many trades, such as: a triangle, a compass, a table saw, and a protractor.

Home Economics

Our home economics department is very important to the students at Hammond High. It gives students a chance to work with others and to do things that they are not familiar with. These things include sewing, cooking, and dealing with different types of problems. These classes help students to get a better understanding of life and everyone needs that.

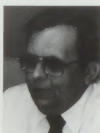

Business

Bryan Summers and John Meissler "compare answers" on their Accounting test.

The business department at H.H.S. is a fine learning ground for students. The skills they learn will be needed whether they go to college, or go right into the business world.

H.H.S. students learn more than just how to type and account, they learn how they can use those skills in their chosen careers. Students at H.H.S. also take classes to learn about business law, business management, and shorthand.

Physical Education

Tim Zasada "busts a three pointer," while Kirk Jenkins stares in amazement.

Physical education is a required class that is needed to graduate. It is not a hard class if one just follows the rules and does what the teacher says. It can be quite fun.

Many people don't like the fact that swimming is also a part of the program, but all they can do is grin and bare it. The complaints usually stop when students realize that you need gym in order to graduate.

Fine Arts

At Hammond High, there are three different areas that we classify as Fine Arts. The art department is taught by both Mr. Ball and Miss Bauman. They teach levels 1-8.

Mr. Bialon is the band instructor. He teaches the introductory, cadet, and concert levels. The concert band plays at assemblies and in competitions. The pep band is always in high spirits and gets the crowd involved at football and basketball games as well as at pep assemblies.

The vocal music department is taught by Mrs. Hunt. The chorus, glee club, and concert choir perform in two major school assemblies but they also perform for solo and small ensemble competitions.

Students in art class work hard to complete a masterpiece.

Foreign Language

Leslie London and Santiago Gomez try to look amused while learning how to conjugate new verbs.

The foreign language department consists of five teachers: Mrs. Kostopulos, who teaches German, Miss Kula and Mrs. Rapp, who teach Spanish, Mrs. Shabazi, and Mrs. Urick, the department chairman, teach French.

These five teachers encourage all to explore a foreign language. There are many new things to be discovered about other countries and cultures. Now more than ever, students are encouraged to gain experience in a foreign language to prepare themselves for college.

Social Studies

If there's anything at Hammond High that stays the same, it has to be history. Although these classes may seem to be ancient, social studies can be interesting and fun. A student can have a heather political debate in government or find out why everyone else is so crazy in psychology. Other classes offered in the social studies department at Hammond High are geography, world civilization, United States history, sociology, and economics. All in all, at the end of a year of social studies at H.H.S., a student has usually learned more than he thought he could.

Ruben DeLuna enthusiastically plays with his gum in his exciting World Civilizations class.

The photographer catches Mr. Dennis' class at a candid moment.

Science

When looked up in the dictionary, science means knowledge. With seven science teachers and their students, this knowledge is easily obtained.

Biology, health and safety, chemistry, advanced chemistry, and physics are the five classes of science offered here at Hammond High.

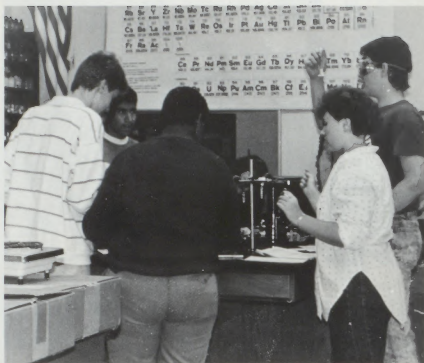

With the advancement of education, many students will take biology freshman year, chemistry sophomore year, advanced chemistry junior year, and the ever most popular physics their graduating year.

Learning about your body and dissecting animals is just the beginning of the many things you do in biology. Chemistry and physics are much harder courses, but are advised if a student plans on attending college.

Mathematics

Synthia Gee, Mark Fosythe, and Tracy Freveert work hard to solve their math problems before the bell rings.

The Math Department this year has been greatly improved by a newly developed program in which students work at their own pace.

The program is open to only the freshman students, but if successful it will soon be available for all students.

Mathematics is a very important part of education and beneficial; more students are enrolling into the honors classes available at H.H.S.

English

From the basic eight parts of speech to interpreting poems, we've experienced English at H.H.S. Whether we have been surprised by one of Mr. Deak's pop quizzes, panicked during one of Ms. Robison's speeches, or been ill-prepared for one of Miss Fisher's discussions, we've come to realize that English is one class in which we have to stay awake. Many times our English staff turns dull, boring, everyday English into creative ideas that we can relate to making it not too difficult or a task to stay awake and learn. We must realize, however, that those assignments, projects, and tests that we consider unfair are some of the same material that our teachers had when they went through high school. Are they tormenting us because they suffered and struggled through their years of English? No, they are merely sharing the knowledge that they feel to be valuable and worthwhile, and that is a gift from which all of us will benefit.

Jean Casmir has just announced that English class has been abolished from all Hammond public schools.

To The Class Of '88

The time has finally come for us to go our separate ways and face the many challenges that life will have to offer. Although we will not be together in person, the memories of each other will live in our hearts forever.

The class of '88 is truly a class with class. We have left an indelible mark in Hammond High School; a legacy that will live forever.

As you follow that unfamiliar road of life, always be sure to face the challenges with your head held high while giving it everything you've got inside. Langston Hughes wrote, "Life for me ain't no crystal stair." It wasn't for him, and it won't be for you, but don't give up. Keep the faith. Remember, if you can conceive it and if you can believe it, then you can achieve it.

I would like to thank all of you for your support and cooperation over the past four years. It has really been a sincere pleasure working with you. To all the members of the senior class: Good luck, for you are truly a class with class!

During the Blood Drive, the nurse reassures her patient that it won't hurt too bad.

Missy Rector goes over her record books to see how many ads the yearbook staff has sold, while everyone else tries to figure out which layout is theirs.

Protesters aimlessly try to keep in step with one another.

Leaders Take Action

SL.I.P. stands for Student Leadership In Progress, and leadership is exactly what they are determined to express. A positive attitude, dependability, and self-belief are just a few of the qualities that can be found in a S.L.I.P. member.

S.L.I.P. focused on formalizing the organization this year by distributing membership cards and holding special closed meetings.

This year S.L.I.P. has planned a different approach to the 1988 Lock-In. Instead of the "Drug Free Weekend" which was held in 1987, S.L.I.P. planned a brainstorming weekend to come up with some ideas for a successful 1988 Bionic Olympiad.

Judge Peter Katic denies accusations of insulting the Hammond Public School System.

Happy with what they're doing, Amy Wallskog, Carolyn Sheiman, Jenny Peters, and Sarah Smith march proudly in the bitter cold.

Lock-In attendants display their school pride as they refute slander against Hammond High by protesting in front of City Hall.

Teacher Mr. Maka and Mrs. Jones laugh it up while taking a break from the Lock-In.

Reporting Facts

The first semester of this year's Herald staff consisted of eight hard working reporters, including the Editor-in-Chief, Odelet Nance. The Herald Staff covers all events that influence the school environment. With the newspaper coming out when funds are available, students as well as teachers, are able to find out activities going on inside the school and in the community surrounding it.

The second semester saw an increase of six new staff members which included Elisa Aguilar, Debbie Anderson, Larry Folllrad, Nito Garcia, Ken Kenyon, and Colleen Logan.

Editor-in-Chief Odelet Nance reviews the work of Jeff Hatfield.

Bo Logan begins thinking about his next assignment while Wesley Sherrod completes his.

Nito Garcia concentrates intensely on getting his story completed and printed.

Before typing his story, Bo Logan gets the typewriter ready for use.

Trials And Tribulations

The 1988 yearbook staff experienced a few problems. It took forever to decide on a theme for the book and after they decided on a theme, the staff had problems raising the money needed to publish the book. Despite these troubles, the book was published and the staff was put to rest.

Many people think that having Yearbook on your schedule means you have a "free period." That isn't the case. Between copying the right layout, ordering and re-ordering pictures, cropping pictures only to find that they won't fit, and the day to day headaches, not to mention trying to sell ads to businesses who won't buy, it is amazing that the staff gets any rest.

Being a "true" yearbook staffer requires dedication and a lot of time and patience. We, the staff, submit to you, the reader, "Nothing Stays the Same ..." in hopes of a better tomorrow.

Kathleen Orr studies the chalkboard in hopes of getting a better understanding of the task which lies ahead.

J. Morales, T. Howard, and R. Siedentopf act out a skit during the auditorium session.

J. Morales tries to explain to J. Rolley, editor-in-chief, why his layout won't make the deadline.

As Tracey Franks and Debbie Cruz prepare for work, Selena Osborne contemplates her next move.

Let The Music Play On

The 1988 HHS band consisted 50 members. The band gives performances at pep assemblies, some athletic games, and on various other occasions. The band has three basic musical sections; brass, woodwind, and percussion. The band has displayed its flexibility by playing an ensemble of music, the variety ranges from modern pop to classical. The HHS band is conducted by Mr. Bailon who has conducted the band for the past 4 years.

Demonstrating his musical ability, Andre Weems, plays the drums.

The HHS band plays Christmas songs, hoping to get us in the Christmas spirit.

Dressed like shepherds the HHS choir tried to reenact the birth of Christ.

Keeping A Tradition

The 1988 HHS choir is presently headed by the music teacher Mrs. Rosemary Hunt. Some members of the choir have sung competitively this year. A select few competed in the Indiana All State Choir Competition, in Indianapolis on February 20, 1988. They competed against students from all the qualifying Indiana schools. To qualify, students had to get a first place in the city competition. The choir consisted of 3 groups: concert choir, glee club, and chorus. The choir, as a whole, has given numerous performances including those at the winter concert and the NCA banquet.

During the Christmas assembly the choir enlightened the minds and souls of every HHS student.

NHS Inducts New Members

The National Honor Society held its induction ceremony on April 28. They also honored students with perfect attendance and those people who made the honor roll at least once. The ceremony was held in the auditorium. This year the new inductees were given flowers to give to their parents. Fifty-one juniors and seniors were inducted. In order to be in the National Honor Society you must maintain a B average, show good character, good service and leadership.

During the ceremony, the old officers passed down their ribbons to the new officers. The new officers are Shelley Sledge, Jodi Smith, Amatul Kazi and Lisa Rardin. There was a reception following the program.

Dedicated To A Cause

Who are those crazy people who are loading into cars at 4 a.m. to go to southern Indiana? It's the speech and debate team. Led by Mrs. Jones and Mr. Monberg, this team travels all over the state of Indiana competing in Debate meets.

Speech and Debate is a highly competitive activity. The members of the Forensics team are members of the NFL, not football, but the National Forensics League. Speech categories range from Exempt — giving a speech on a domestic/international issue in thirty minutes — to poetry reading and radio broadcasting.

On December 5, 1987, a debate meet was held at HHS for the first time in several years. The competing schools included: Munster, Chesterton, Morton, Logansport, and Rich East. Senior, Gregg Monberg was awarded top speaker of this meet.

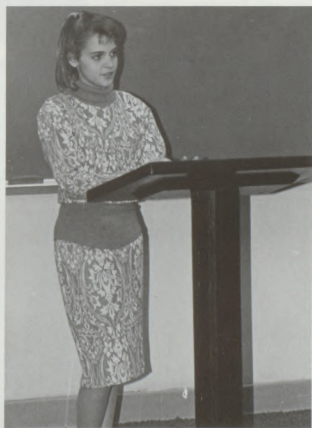

Top: Speech and debate members Eric Stover, Christina Bates, Joe Lentz, and Lelania Alamillo, greet the competing schools with warm smiles and tasty treats.

Bottom: As Denise Mudd and Lelania Alamillo listen attentively, Cindy Pitera explains how to improve their presentation.

Lauren Vega informs Lizette Jones that she has another page to memorize for her speech.

In her speech, Beth Howard addresses a serious issue.

Hammond High created a new independent studies class this 87-88 school year. The "Academic Team" was the course, and it proved to be well worth the great effort that was put forth to start the program.

The "Team" was composed of fifteen students. Each student had an area of expertise. The first semester, the teams were arranged in groups by grade point average. There were three divisions: varsity, scholastic, and honors. Each group had five members. There was no individual competition until the "Spellbowl" which came later in the year. The "Team" finished fourteenth out of a field of sixteen regional teams, and for a first time competitor, Hammond High did very well. The other "Teams" had been competing for years.

In the second semester, the "Academic Team" again entered competition with regional teams. This time they were placed in groups of three, according to departments, which were: Math, English, Science, Social Studies, and Liberal Arts.

The "Team" will probably become a tradition at Hammond High which will become even better with time.

Service Club

The Service Club has continued with the activities that it has been doing over the past years. Some examples are delivering carnations during Valentine's Day, assisting in the blood drive, and hosting graduation and special guests. The Service Club members sell programs at the games and work the concession stand at all home games.

Letters are awarded according to the number of points a member earns by coming to meetings and participating in club activities.

The sponsor of the Service Club is Ms. Parkhurst. The Service Club is open to all students who are ready to help at games and at other school functions.

Mat Maids

Mat Maids is a club made up of girls who volunteer their time and effort by helping Mr. Deak (the wrestling coach) keep time and score. They also give the awards to the wrestlers at tournaments. By assisting Mr. Deak, they acquire a greater understanding and interest of the sport, and they meet many new and exciting people.

Bowling Club

The HHS Bowling Club meets on Tuesdays after school at Bowl Era Lanes. This year's club consisted of six teams with three members per team. Sponsored by Mr. Gradisher, the teams compete amongst themselves. After nine weeks, the teams had a final roll off and the top three teams received awards. The first place winners received trophies.

H.H.S. Honored By NBC

This year Hammond High School received the honor of being chosen to be one of three high schools in the nation to be in an NBC program. H.H.S. participated in an NBC Nightly News special on education with Tom Brokaw. Four members of NBC, including producer Joe DeCola and Sunday night news anchor Garrick Utley, came to Hammond High school and conducted informative interviews with selected students, teachers, and administrators. The NBC special aired in the late winter and our school was well represented.

After the completion of filming, Garrick Utley reviews the material.

While listening to Joe DeCola, Mr. Hayden's 7th hour science class waits patiently to be on camera.

Testing the sound in the Weight Room, the sound man notices a strange vibration.

Prior to the end of school, the cameraman focuses the camera down the empty hallway.

Preparing for taping in McDonald's producer Joe DeCola, searches in his bag for the correct equipment.

Nothing Gold Can Stay

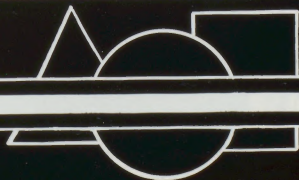

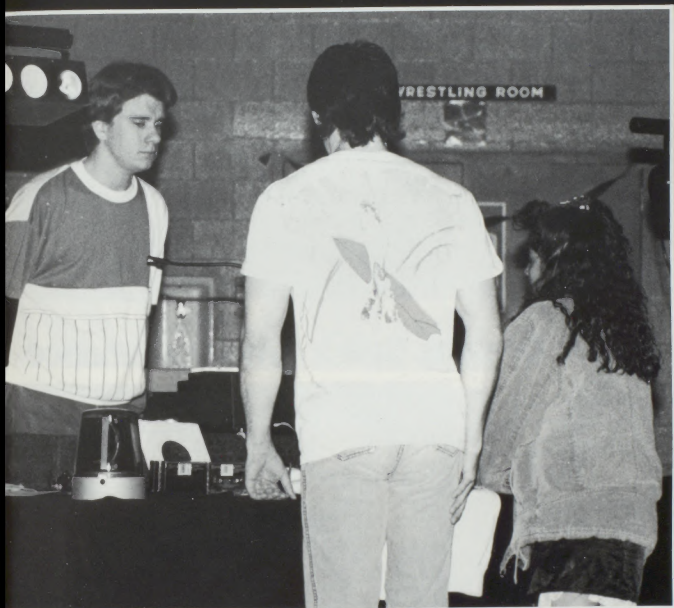

Nature's first green is gold
Her hardest hue to hold
Her early leaves a flower
But only so an hour
Leaves subsides to leaf
So Eden sank to grief
Dawn goes down today
Nothing gold can stay. Robert Frost

Mrs. Emanda Jones proudly presents Carrieann Beitler with one of many awards presented to various seniors on Honors Day.

Ron Peene, a guest DJ from Z95, calmly listens to requests for the song "Doin' the Butt" at the S.A.D.D. dance.

As their hands meet, Dan Flores and Lorenza Reyes form memories of a Winter Formal they will never forget.

Winter Dreams Spark Winter Romance

As formal-goers spruced up for the big night, a light snow began to fall creating romance. 'Winter Dreams' winter formal was held on December 18, not after Christmas when everyone is broke. For the second year in a row, formal took place at the Holiday Star Theater. The music was played by Sound Prism disc jockey service.

When the couples started to arrive, the photographers (professional and amateur alike) began recording the occasion, and compliments were exchanged. Dinner was well received as catered meals go, but the dancing was the activity most enjoyed by all, and many stayed until 'Winter Dreams' winter formal drew to a close. When all was over, a lot of dreams had come true.

Adam Smith wonders whether he should follow the advice of Denise Mudd and Shannon Jones and get a punk haircut.

Takeya Lewis and Jamahl King laugh it up on the dance floor.

Angry because their dates stood them up, Brian Jacobs and Tom Moore discuss how to get even.

"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the fairest of them all?" ask Kristyn Ball, Jean Casmir, and Jenny Lytle.

Jim Choss and his guest enjoy themselves with Pat Beard and Carrie Beidler showing a touch of class.

Carmen Marcano and Michael Glenn enjoy the show before they dine.

A Touch Of Class

The Royal Couple, Leroy Harwell, Jr. and Cheryl Valousky, give their subjects just what they want.

The Wicker Park Social Center was once again the scene for the Junior-Senior Prom. Eighty-two couples gathered together April 29, 1988 to show each other a touch of class. Black, white, and silver added just the right mood to make the prom one of the best. After dinner, the entertainment began with the Little People, two dancers from Chicago, leading to the moment everyone had been waiting for — the crowning of the King and Queen. Leroy Harwell, Jr. and Cheryl Valousky were the victorious couple. After the Garter Dance, the evening soon ended with memories that will never die.

Justin Grzybowski and Matt March do their rendition of the latest dance.

The Seniors pretend to be interested as they await the final presentations.

Giving Credit Where Credit Is Due

On May 25, 1988, the class of 1988 was able to stand before the students and staff and be honored. The Valedictorian, Sarah Smith, and the Salutatorians Selena Osborne and Nicole Walker, led the class into the gymnasium. The Honor Society members were recognized and presented with flowers. Throughout the program, individual seniors were rewarded for their academic and athletic achievements. Some students received scholarships including Alonzo Weems who received a full-paid scholarship to Wabash.

The seniors anticipate commencement but regret parting with their closest friends.

Tim Howard is awarded a medal for his athletic and academic achievements throughout high school.

Cheryl Valousky and Becky Trost pray that they won't trip as they receive their diploma.

Nervous, but determined, co-salutatorian Selena Osborne approaches the podium to give her speech.

A Step to the Future

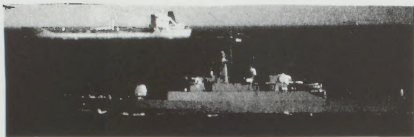

Sunday, June 5, parents, relatives, and friends gathered to watch the class of 1988 take its final steps as high school students and its first steps into the real world. Class valedictorian Sarah Smith and class salutatorians Selena Osborne and Nicole Walker, led the procession and then offered comments and advice in each of their speeches. Finally, each student crossed the stage, receiving his diploma and a hearty handshake from the class president Alonzo Weems. The ceremony ended as Mr. Cassel White directed the students to switch their tassels from right to left, and the graduates' cry of joy rang through the gym.

Soon-to-be graduates listen to the rituals of commencement.

The crowd watches and listens as Selena Osborne delivers her salutatory address.

Helping Bernacci's get ready for the spring planting, Daniel Grieder stacks Cypress Mulch.

Canned goods on the bottom, eggs in the middle, and bread on the top, is the only thing that runs through John Mudd's mind the entire six hours he's at Bernacchi's.

Editor's Note

My duties as an editor are at a close, and I am both grateful and happy; for when I became editor, I expected a lot. But the things which I received, I didn't expect. I am not sorry that I tried to get my staff to do their best. I held up my end of the job. I tried — despite the negative feedback from my colleagues.

To the reader, I hope that you'll find that this book covered 1988. I apologize for any repeated pictures. I know that I stopped some pictures from being duplicated, but as for all of them I'm not sure. I would also like to apologize for the "clicks" which appear in this edition of the Dunes. A few members on the staff tried desperately not to use the same faces again and again, but it seemed as if the camera would only take pictures of the same faces.

As for being editor, I have learned a great deal. It is my true feelings that a person should never be an editor for only one year. I believe that a more perfect book could be obtained if the editorship lasted for more than a year.

Thank you for buying this book. If, as a student, you feel that you could contribute to a better publication, please join the staff — they still need a few dedicated workers.

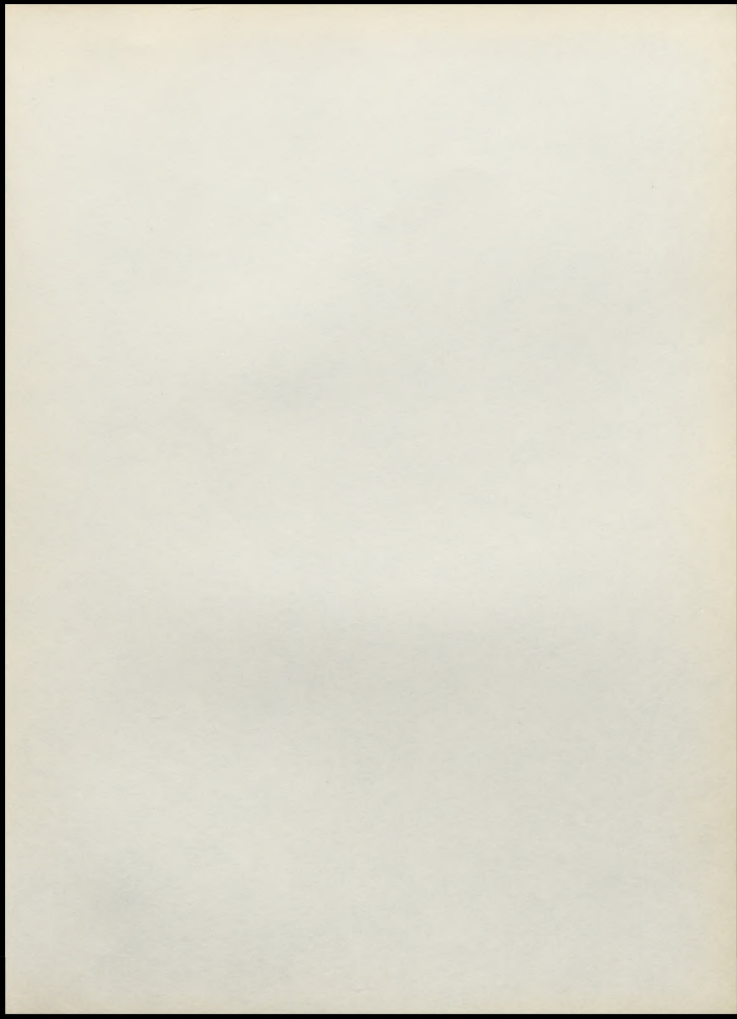

Janet A. Rolley

P.S. A big Thank You to all of those who tried to meet each deadline. Thanks Again!

Specifications

The 87-88 yearbook was published by Taylor Publishing Co., Dallas, Texas. Our area representative was Donna Arington. Our "in the plant person" was Patti Rollins. The student photos were taken by Loavasko Studios. All other photos were taken by Tim Howard, Todd Dornick, and Dawn Iles. The book was printed on Enamel 80 and the cover was Custom Kivar with Hot Foil. The typestyles were varied according to the divisions — Student Life — Pharoah, People — Vinetta, Academics — Impact, Sports — Bolt Bold, Special Events — Tramp, Organizations — Windsor. The Community Division typestyles were varied throughout the section. All headings were 36pt. The initial letter in body copies was 30pt. Captions and body copy was printed in 8pt. and 10pt. optima respectively.
